SESSION ON LEADERSHIP AND BUSINESS

LSEBS hosted a Guest speaker session on May 8th, 2023 for the benefit of the LSE student body. With guest speaker Momin Saqib, ITC was packed. The session took place between 1:00pm – 2:30pm. With an overwhelming reply of "Waqt badal diye, jazbaat badal diye, zindagi badal di," the respondents were elated. The topic of discussion for the session was "Leadership and Business" and Mr. Saqib gave a very informative talk. Having narrated his own experience and journey through life and how he paved his way to his current success, he gave the audience an intro to what life can be when one stays determined and hopeful, with a blend of humor.

Relating his times at King's College, London, he has shown one's capability in making an impact. From becoming the first non-European international student in 144 years to be elected as President of the Students' Union at the prestigious institution to being the co-founder of Tayaba Organisation and One Million Meals, his efforts are impressive. The thought behind being away from home, yet always striving to do good for the home is what inspired many to take initiative and adopt a more solution-oriented approach to life.

LAHORE SCHOOL SOCIETY OF LITERATURE

ORIENTATION

The journey began on the yellow brick road on the 6th of October. President, Zara Amir, started the event off by sharing an inspiring anecdote, followed by Mahnoor Rehan, the Vice President, and Directors discussing their ambitious plans for the following year. Joint Secretary, Adil Shahid, then went on to reward the literary lovers in the audience; the three winners seemed delighted with the books they were awarded for their knowledge of the craft. After a long day's hard work, the busy bees invited the audience members to share in our little feast. Even after the event, many audience members stayed behind to make merry. We cannot wait to travel down this yellow path until we arrive at the Emerald City, and we hope that you will join us on this journey!

BOOK CLUB 1

We always think of books as curtains of profound thoughts, shadows of the deepest secrets, blankets of comfort for our kind. The ones who stay up late to read about great literary characters overcome their deepest fears. Though it makes one wonder, why do we dive so deep within history to unravel the wildest fairytales told through the art of language? Well, perhaps what we all need to realize is that Literature is not over there, bound to the frames of an old rusty page. It's right here, existing all around us; tangible, palpable, real. This thought led to having the first Book Club on October 14th, allowing all participants to indulge as a character of their own stories, sharing, and discussing opinions over books as a protagonist. This opened the labyrinth of pathways leading to diverse literary dimensions.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Lahore School Society of Literature in collaboration with Lahore School Arts Society, conducted a Halloween Party on 5th November, 2022 in Garden Café. From trick-or-treating to jack-o-lanterns, the Café had engaged students in multiple activities. One could only see the masks and wigs, the plastic fangs, various hats, and a feather boa. The interesting food stalls added to the experience and led to an overwhelming response.

BOOK CLUB 2

As we sat beneath the open sky and travelled through the pages of Shafak's The Forty Rules of Love, we went back eons with Ella Rubenstein in finding the reality of the world, of that of the one weaved seamlessly into something that the common man sees as "real," a façade, an image captured which the common man is afraid to look closely at. Because if he does, the worlds collide—the actual, temporary one and the timeless world he has safely kept into the folds of his brain—and there is no place he can then escape to. Sharing such depths over this book with people with commonality, created a sense of community and empathy among members to hear every protagonists' story at the second Book Club on November 14th, 2022. Relating one's life with those explained in books, felt like one is talking to oneself in a mirror with every word depicting their life story and how the journey unravels as one grows.

BOOK CLUB 3

The afternoon of 29th November was an afternoon with a breeze filled with bittersweet melancholy, for the Lahore School Society of Literature (LSSL) engaged in a heavy discussion on the novel The Book Thief. A story narrated elegantly by Death itself of the fate of Liesel, a young girl in Nazi Germany. An intriguing part of this book was how the author managed to serve a perception of the war of German residents, in so many different perspectives: that of a child who lost her family, that of a Jewish refugee, that of the Nazis, and that of the common, everyday German who was dragged unwillingly in the midst of a war.

Since the society had also arranged a movie screening based on this book in ITC Auditorium as the "theatre", where spectators were able to visualize all that was felt the previous day with popcorn, pizza, and brownies to comfort our empath souls along with senseless banter amongst us all in the theatre as we all watched how Liesel and her family found happiness in the struggles they were facing by having a wholesome, snowball fight in the basement. A good end to the day, and a good break from the exasperating semester as well.

BOOK DRIVE

Lahore School Society of Literature in collaboration with Lahore School CSR Center, had a book drive from January 27th, 2023 to February 2nd, 2023. Book Drives help promote literacy and studies show that reading tends to reduce stress, improve one's focus and concentration, enhances memory, adds to one's knowledge while improving analytical thinking skills as well. These books were distributed and donated to children to foster their growth and spread awareness over the importance of reading.

BOOK CLUB 4

A picnic Book Club was held on February 20th, 2023 in Shamyla Gardens. This time there was no "Book Thief" or "The Forty Rules of Love", rather various different books were discussed along with making connections of how various writers had expressed a different kind of story in a unique manner. The various ways of writing books were also discussed to enhance knowledge and aid participants who are writing their own stories or journeys whether they want to publish it or not.

JOURNAL VIEWING

Society of Literature had a Journal Viewing activity on April 12th, 2023, in ITC library. This activity allowed the society members and their audience to have an interactive session over past events that the society held for them. The Journal was viewed online where students were appreciated by the society for their contributions and went over some memories that they all had shared not only during an event, but over the whole process of bringing that event into action. Lastly, the students shared their thoughts over the events and the improvements that can be made in the future to lead to an even improved way of expressing literature and having more ideas to indulge students while spreading awareness to the importance of literature, simultaneously.

OPEN MIC

The Society of Literature organized an Open Mic Event on April 20th, 2023 in ITC A. This event encouraged students to bring out their talents on stage. The students shared their favourite pieces of literature, poems, poetry, dialogues, some written by themselves. The literature shared was not only of some famous artist but it included originality by the participants. It allowed a casual environment having a sense of community allowing students to express themselves in a different way and respect each other's thoughts and life stories expressed in a unique manner.
